I use speech recognition software to make all my transcriptions. Such software misinterprets my southern accent with unfortunate regularity and my poor proofreading fails to catch all misinterpretations. I welcome and encourage folks to call those errors to my attention.]

State of Kentucky Graves County

On this 16th day of May 1833 personally appeared in open Court before William Armstrong, James Cochran & Daniel Cargill Justices of the Graves County Court now sitting Vachel Lovelace a resident of said County of Graves and Commonwealth aforesaid aged seventy-five years who being first duly sworn according to law doth on his oath make the following declaration in order to obtain the benefit of the act of Congress passed June 7th 1832.

That he entered the service of the United States under the following named officers and served as herein stated to wit. He states that he was born in Frederick County State of Maryland on the 12th day of June 1758 as appears from the record of his age now in his possession which was many years since from his father's record of his children's ages. That he was raised in said County of Frederick till he was about 16 years of age when he moved to Rowan County North Carolina where he continued to reside till he entered the service for a tour of six months on the first day of April 1777 as an Indian spy under Captain David Caldwell Lieutenant Richard McGuire Ensign John Knox all of a Regiment commanded by Colonel Locke who was under General Rutherford [Griffith Rutherford]. He states however that in actual service he had no superior Officer to his Captain in his much has no other than a single company of spies was put out from Rowan. He states that he met with his company at Shells Ford on the Catawby [Catawba] River and from thence marched to Davidson's Fort at the foot of the Blue Ridge on the head of the Catawba River at which place he remained for the purpose of ranging the Country round and protecting the frontiers till the expiration of his term of six months when he received a discharge signed by his Captain David Caldwell which discharge has long since been lost by this applicant. He states that he entered the above service as a volunteer in said company of spies. After being discharged he returned home where he remained till he again entered the service as a volunteer on the first of September 1780 under Captain Robeson Colonel Waid Hampton [sic, Wade Hampton] and General Sumpter [sic, Thomas Sumter]. He states that he rendezvoused at Mecklenburg Court house from which place he was sent to range and watch the Country round Winnsborough to which place Cornwallis had retreated after Ferguson's defeat.¹ He states that a considerable part of this tours service consisted of watching ferries [&?] Mills and in cutting off foraging parties of the British. He states that he was in a sharp engagement with a party of British at a place called the Fish Dam on Broad River and that his party were defeated. He states that in a few days after he was in another severe engagement under General Sumter at Blackstock's plantation on Tyger River. Sumter had near a thousand men but was nevertheless defeated and badly wounded. From this place he was marched to Buffenton's Iron works on Pacolet [River] where he remained but a few days from which place he was marched with the Army to Colonel Watson's plantation where the troops remained some time, when he was marched to Mecklenburg Court house having served out his tour of three months at which place he received his discharge signed by General Horatio Gates in bearing date the 3rd day of December 1780. This was his last term of service. He shortly afterwards moved to the State of Kentucky (from Rowan County) in which state he continued to reside ever since. He has no documentary evidence of his services nor has he any better evidence than he here addresses including the certificate of his brother Elias Lovelace but his neighbors to wit Peter Mahan, Samuel Mahan, Lewis Good, Benjamin Kimmel, James Ashley and others who are well acquainted with him will bear ample testimony as to his character for veracity and to his being reputed a soldier of the Revolution. He hereby relinquishes every claim whatever to a pension or annuity except the present and declares that his name is not on the Pension Roll of the agency of any State whatever.
